

Following High School, I completed my A Levels at Suffolk One. I then went on to Study for a year at the University of Essex and I am now working for the Department for Work and Pensions, I have recently been given a place on their Summer School scheme, which is one of the most prestigious development programmes across government. I am looking forward to a successful career in government and one of my goals is to help raise aspirations of young people. My words of wisdom would be first to feel the fear and do it anyway (I was terrified of going to University but it was one of the best decisions I made, equally I was terrified to leave university early but it meant I got a fantastic career opportunity). My second piece of advice would be to say yes to every opportunity given to you and worry about it later. Adopting these two things has meant that at the age of 22 I'm already a homeowner and have some great things to look forward to!
